Graduate study is offered in the Department of Foreign Languages leading to the degree of Master of Arts. Areas of study are French, German, and Spanish.

Admission Criteria—The Graduate Record Examination (GRE) is not required for admission to the M.S. program in Foreign Languages. International students are required to have a TOEFL score of 525 or better in order to be considered.

Program of Study/Completion

Requirements—Thesis and non-thesis options are available. The thesis option requires satisfactory completion of 24 semester hours of course work and six semester hours of research/thesis, for a total of 30 semester hours. The non-thesis option requires satisfactory completion of 33 semester hours in one language or 36 semester hours in two languages for students wishing a double major (18 semester hours in each language). Also required for the degree is a comprehensive oral examination based upon all course work taken and (where applicable) an oral defense of the thesis. One course, FL 8103 (Bibliography and Research Methods), is required of all Master's candidates. A minimum of 21 semester hours in one language must be taken for the M.A.; this allows a student to work in a minor field, such as History, Education, the Teaching of English as a Second Language, and Foreign Language Methodology.

Provisional Admission—Students who have not fully met the requirements stipulated by the University and the appropriate department for admission to graduate study may be granted admission as a degree-seeking graduate student with provisional status. Such students must have as their initial objective advancement to regular status.

A provisional student must receive a 3.00 GPA on the first nine hours of graduate level courses on his or her program of study taken at Mississippi State University (transfer hours or unclassified graduate hours will not apply) in order to achieve regular status. If a 3.00 is not attained, the provisional student will be dismissed from graduate study. While in the provisional status, students are not eligible to hold a graduate assistantship.

Academic Performance—Continuous enrollment in the University or in a specific graduate program is dependent upon a satisfactory evaluation of academic performance and progress toward the completion of a specified degree. A student's progress is considered satisfactory unless judged to be unsatisfactory by the department and/or the dean of the college offering the program. Unsatisfactory performance may be defined as the failure to maintain a B average in graduate courses attempted after admission to the program, a grade of U, D, or F in any course, more than two grades below a B, failure of the comprehensive/preliminary examination, an unsatisfactory evaluation of a thesis or dissertation, failure of the research defense, or any other failure of a required component of one's program of study. Any one of these, or any combination of these, may constitute the basis for the termination of a student's graduate study in a degree program; individual programs have the right to establish their own criteria.

To be eligible for the comprehensive/preliminary examination, a graduate student must maintain an overall B average in all graduate courses attempted after admission to the program.

Graduate teaching assistantships, awarded on a competitive basis, are available. For additional information, contact the head of the Department of Foreign Languages, P.O. Box FL, Mississippi State, MS 39762 or fax 662-325-8209.

Forest Products

College of Forest Resources

Dr. George M. Hopper, Dean/Director
 Dr. Liam Leightley, Department Head
 Dr. Darrel Nicholas, Graduate Coordinator
 P.O. Box 9820
 662-325-2116

The field of forest products is concerned with extending man's knowledge of wood as a material and applying this knowledge to the manufacture of useful products. It requires knowledge of the chemical, physical, botanical, and engineering sciences and how they impinge on wood. Graduate study in the Department of Forest Products leads to the Master of Science in Forest Products or Doctor of Philosophy in Forest Resources with an emphasis in forest products. Major areas of study include composite wood products, environmental biotechnology, wood preservation, business and production systems, wood chemistry, and furniture. In lieu of the foreign language requirement, the Ph.D. candidate is required to take six hours of research skill courses from the department list. Research assistantships are available. For additional information write to the Departmental Graduate Coordinator, Department of Forest Products, Box 9820, Mississippi State, MS 39762-9820.

Admission—An applicant to the program is not required to have the GRE or GMAT test scores unless his/her grade point average is below 3.00.
